How do we store your data?

Unless a longer storage period is required or justified by law or through compliance with another legal obligation, the WEEE Forum will only store your personal data for the period necessary to achieve and fulfil the purpose in question, as specified in the Privacy Policy.

What are your rights?

In light of the processing of your personal data, you enjoy the following privacy rights:

- Right of access to your personal data
- Right to rectification, completion or update of your personal data
- Right to erasure of your personal data ('right to be forgotten').
- Right to restriction of the processing of your personal data
- Right to transferability of your personal data
- Right to object the processing of your personal data

If you would like to execute any of the above-mentioned rights and/or make any changes to your personal data, please contact info@weee-forum.org.

If you no longer wish to receive our newsletter, you can unsubscribe at any time by clicking the "unsubscribe" button underneath each of our newsletter's editions.

What do we do to keep your personal data secure?

The WEEE Forum take suitable physical and electronic, organisational and technical measures in accordance with our obligations under GDPR to avoid any data breaches such as unauthorised access, loss, abuse or alteration of your personal information.

Each user of the extranet is responsible for keeping his/her password secure and should not share it with third parties. If the user suspects that his/her password has become known to a third party, they should notify us immediately in order that we may change the login details. The WEEE Forum is not responsible for any unauthorised access to the extranet caused by passwords becoming known to third parties.

Update of the Privacy Policy

The WEEE Forum may update this Privacy Policy by posting a new version on the websites. In case of major changes this will be communicated to the WEEE Forum's members separately.
